Master of Education EDUCATIONAL LEADERSHIP

HOME OF THE WARRIORS

YOU ARE THE DIFFERENCE

Beyond the promotion and salary increase that often accompanies the acquisition of a M. Ed. Educational Leadership, you'll work in collaboration with caring instructors, fellow students, and a team of mentors to achieve the following outcomes:

1. Integrate the principles of school culture to establish and implement a shared vision and culture of high expectations.
2. Apply principles of leading learning to ensure students receive high-quality instruction.
3. Demonstrate principles of human capital to ensure faculty and staff are of the highest quality.
4. Employ the principles of executive leadership to model a consistent focus on and commitment to improving student learning.
5. Interpret the principles of strategic operations to implement systems that align with the vision and improve the quality of instruction.
6. Employ the principles of ethics, equity, and diversity to implement policies to manage educational environments.

LEAD LIKE A WARRIOR
