

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE AVIATION SCIENCE -AVIATION MANAGEMENT

2020-2021 TRANSFER GUIDE

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

The Bachelor of Science in Aviation Science - Aviation Management at Texas A&M University-Central Texas provides a comprehensive background in aviation studies, management and business to prepare students for airport and diverse general aviation-related roles. The comprehensive coursework includes instruction in airport safety, marketing & advertising, preparing for and managing disasters, public and crisis communications, and more. It also includes pilot background courses and instruction on why airports take some of the actions they take.

Our fully online program allows you to soar in your career from home or the nearby cafe-anywhere with Internet access. The program offers junior and seniorlevel coursework, as well as possibilities for internships with several aviation organizations that cover a broad range of employers. Aviation Management students build leadership and professional experience through real-world experience and exciting class projects.
