COURSE INFORMATION

Course Overview and Description:

An independent research course in which a student proposes and completes an original, quantitative research project in conjunction with three graduate faculty members who serve on the thesis committee and is scheduled when the student is ready to begin thesis. No credit awarded until proposal and thesis are approved, respectively. Six hours of thesis credit is required to graduate. Prerequisites: PSYK 500 and PSYK 501 and successful completion of 12 additional credit hours in the degree plan and approval of the Chair of the thesis committee, or Department Chair approval.

This course is designed to provide students with the opportunity to use systematic research methods and appropriate tools of inquiry to thoroughly investigate a psychological problem or issue. Students must follow the Thesis Manual provided by the Office of Graduate Studies.

Course Objectives (Student Learning Outcomes):

Course objectives and content will be addressed through the creation of an original research project that will be completed in two phases (i.e., proposal and thesis). The student, under the guidance of a faculty advisor, will utilize sound research methods for the social sciences. In this course, students will:

1. Demonstrate comprehension and application of fundamental principles, generalizations, or theories. Students will identify and summarize relevant psychological theories and research in a content area of specialization to contextualize the thesis proposal and final thesis project.
2. Demonstrate application of factual knowledge (terminology, classifications, methods, trends). Students will compute and present appropriate statistical techniques given the data collected in the project such as measures of central tendency and variability, correlation coefficients, regression, analysis of variance, and/or chi-square. Students will demonstrate their ability to compute and present appropriate descriptive and inferential statistical analysis of data on the final thesis project.
3. Analyze and critically evaluate ideas, arguments, and points of view. Students will read and summarize in writing the development of research on the variables of interest, read multiple research studies on the variables targeted in the thesis and integrate the information in writing to support the position, acknowledge in writing relevant research information that contradicts or is otherwise inconsistent with the arguments in the thesis, write a justification for the proposed thesis research that is based on limitations, shortcomings, and/or gaps in existing research, and write research hypotheses that are directly supported by existing empirical research.
4. Integrate academic content from the program to improve thinking, problem solving, and decision making. Students will develop and design a novel project supported by existing empirical research to address problems, issues, or gaps in knowledge. Students will integrate research results with existing research and theory in the content area of specialization to draw conclusions support by data gathered during the thesis project.
5. Demonstrate skill in expressing oneself orally or in writing. Students will utilize appropriate APA style to write summaries of existing research articles and base the justification for the thesis proposal on existing research, write a proposal for the thesis research and revise it based on committee feedback, and write a final report of the thesis research and revise it based on committee feedback.
6. Demonstrate specific skills, competencies, and points of view needed by professionals in the field. The student will:

- a. craft, in conjunction with a faculty mentor, an original research idea.
- b. research information related to the thesis project using online tools including the TAMUCT library's databases.
- c. summarize existing peer-reviewed research on the topic and note where more information is needed.
- d. write an original research proposal in APA style and defend it during an oral presentation to the thesis committee.
- e. submit defended research plans through the Institutional Review Board process (for human subjects).
- f. engage in data collection according to the approved plan and in a manner consistent with training on federal requirements.
- g. use statistical computing software (e.g., SPSS) to analyze quantitative data collected through research and interpret it.
- h. propose directions for future research.
- i. write the final thesis to conform to the guidelines stated in the TAMUCT Thesis Manual and defend it during an oral presentation to the thesis committee and interested others.

On-campus, the library offers technology including cameras, laptops, microphones, webcams, and digital sound recorders.

Research assistance from a librarian is also available twenty-four hours a day through our online chat service and at the reference desk when the library is open. Research sessions can be scheduled for more comprehensive assistance and may take place on Skype or in-person at the library. Recommended Academic Strategies:

1. According to the federal definition of a credit hour, students should spend “not less than one hour of classroom or direct faculty instruction and a minimum of two hours out of class...for one semester hour of credit” (<http://www.sacscoc.org/subchg/policy/CreditHours.pdf>). For a 3-credit hour class that is delivered fully online, students should spend at least 9 hours on coursework per week for a 16-week course. Bear in mind that this guideline is for an average class. Some students may find this course challenging and may require significantly more time to grasp the concepts and complete the assignments. Plan accordingly.
2. Research indicates that spaced practice is better than massed practice when learning new information. Thus, spending 3 hours a day for 6 days a week on coursework is better for your learning and your grade than ‘pulling an all-nighter.’ Adjust your schedule accordingly.
3. Be professional and use proper netiquette (i.e., internet etiquette) in all course correspondence. Your college education is grooming you for a professional career.
 - a. Use standard English in all of your communications. Do not abbreviate or use texting shortcuts (e.g., OMG! R U kidding. ROFL!). Spell check, revise, and edit your messages before sending them. Use proper punctuation and capitalization.
 - b. Be polite and respectful of others. Do not use all UPPERCASE LETTERS, which is equivalent to shouting. Avoid sarcasm and irony because they are easily misinterpreted by the reader. Do not ‘flame’ others by sending negative or hurtful comments; though the reader cannot see you, you are not anonymous.
 - c. Remember that you are individually accountable for all your messages and online actions. Treat all of your interactions with others in class as you would in your future professional career.
4. Provide additional recommendations here for students to be successful in the course
