COURSE INFORMATION

Course Overview and description:

This course provides an understanding and application of systems analysis and design processes. Students will be exposed to system development life cycle, structured systems analysis and design methods, object-oriented analysis and design methods, prototyping and commercial off-the-shelf package software approaches. Examine systematic analysis, design, and implementation of software systems with special emphasis on the processes and skills used in the first four stages of the System Development Life Cycle. Analyze traditional and current methodologies in design, including computer aided analysis and design tools.

This course is about systems analysis and design as applied to information systems and computer applications. No matter what your chosen occupation or position in any business, you will likely participate in systems analysis and design. Some of you will become the key players in systems analysis and design activities. The rest of you will work with systems analysts as projects come and go in your organizations.

Prerequisite(s): CIS 3330 or CIS 3331 or CIS 3332, or permission of department chair.

Student Learning Outcomes:

Students will design and explain each of the different parts of a Computer Information System. Students will examine system components, identify how they are used and relate the pieces to the system whole.

Students will complete an information system project to develop system analysis and design skill.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Exams

There will be three exams (two mid-terms and one final). Each exam is worth 100 points. Final exam will not be comprehensive. The exams can be conducted either paper-based or on canvas. Exams will be based on the textbook, readings, and class discussions. It is assumed that you will read the assigned chapters and readings in advance. Make up exams are not typically given. The only acceptable excuses for missing an exam are circumstances clearly outside your control, such as illness, death in family, etc. If you miss an exam, notify me as soon as possible. I may require documentation of the circumstances.

Assignments

A semester-long project will dominate your activities during this course. You will be assigned to one of the case studies supplied by your book. The project will run very similar to an actual project and will be divided into ten milestones. The due date for completing each milestone is specified in the course schedule. Milestones must be submitted before the end of the day (11:59 PM) on the due date mentioned in the course schedule. Late submissions will not be accepted for full points and will attract 10% deduction for each day that it is late. I will be the project manager and quality assurance manager for your project in continually reviewing your progress on the assigned milestones. As quality assurance manager, I will review your delivered milestones for completeness and accuracy. Each milestone is worth 40 points.

Project Report

The final project report is the integration of all previous milestones. Each student will need to incorporate all comments and feedback provided while evaluating the project milestones throughout the semester. Guidelines for preparing a professional project report will be uploaded on Canvas. Project report is worth 100 points.

Quizzes

There will be ten quizzes (multiple choice, true/false) that are designed to test the general understanding of the topics covered in the course. The quizzes can be conducted either in-class or online through Canvas. Each quiz is worth 20 points.

Grading Criteria:

Course Requirement	Points	Weightage
3 Exams (100 points each)	300	30%
10 Assignments (40 points each)	400	40%
10 Quizzes (20 points each)	200	20%
Project Report	100	10%

Posting of Grades

All students' grade will be posted on the Canvas Grade book, and students can monitor their progress on Canvas grade book. Students can expect to see their grades within two weeks of the closing of class tests, exams, and assignments. Students are expected to visit Canvas course webpage regularly to get any update regarding this course.
