Course requirements:

1. Reading assignments and weekly online folders: Readings from the textbook are listed in the course schedule below and in our weekly folders. Please complete the weekly readings before you attempt to submit a journal response or discussion post. Films and websites are also posted in the weekly folders and these materials should be referred to when completing your journal responses. For weeks when discussion posts are due there will be additional readings available in our E-reserves course folder.
 - a. To access e-reserves go to the TAMUCT library home page. <http://tamuct.libguides.com/index>. Under the heading "Library Information," look for the blue hyperlink link to E-Reserves. Click on this hyperlink. Use the search box to locate our course either using your instructor's name (Jones) or the course name (Ancient Civ) or number (type "ANTH 4320"). The readings will be listed in folders by discussion number. The e-reserves password is "maya"
2. Journal Responses (10 pts each)—Open Tuesdays 8 am and due Sundays at 11:59 PM
There are a total of 10 journal responses due in the course, with some weeks having more than one journal response (usually related to a film, see schedule). Journal responses should be between 250-300 words. Responses much shorter or much longer than this will have points deducted. Journal entry question prompts will be embedded within short lecture videos found in the "media gallery" in Canvas. Responses that appear to be copied and pasted verbatim from the textbook will not receive points as journal entries should be in the student's own words. Journal responses are private and can only be seen by the student and instructor. There are no makeups for journal responses.
3. Discussion postings: There will be 5 discussion postings due consisting of one primary response and two secondary responses (100 pts total per discussion). You will be required to submit YOUR OWN post to the discussion question(s) that week and then respond to TWO other of your classmates posts. Guidelines are as follows:
 - A. Initial, Primary Response (50 pts each)—due Thursdays at 11:59 PM
Students are expected to read the assigned materials prior to responding to threaded discussions, typically at the beginning of each week (Sun/Mon/Tues). The student should inspect the Course Calendar and see what readings are assigned for that week. Early in the week (Mon/Tue), the discussion question will be made available if not sooner. The student should devote the first part of the week to reading and understanding the assigned reading. Note taking and outlining is recommended. The student should then be ready toward the middle (Wed/Thurs) of the week to post his response.

This initial, primary response should reflect familiarity with the readings, and should answer the question as completely as possible. This response should be at least a half page in length (about 250 words). A response that is not at least 250 words cannot receive full points. A response that has not been proofread (ex: is filled with excessive spelling and grammatical errors) cannot receive full points. Most importantly, responses should have some substance beyond the student's agreement with a statement or the mere expression of his opinions. The student should support their responses in some way with references to the assigned readings.

*A note on QUOTATIONS/CITATION: Discussion posts should be in your own words. Please use quotations sparingly, i.e., only to orient one another to specific, brief passages in the readings (with page numbers cited in parentheses). Note that quotations do not count toward your 250 word minimum; only your own words count.

B. Additional Responses/Comments (25 pts each)—due Sundays at 11:59 PM

After another student has made his/her own initial response, the student must make TWO additional secondary responses to what some student wrote. The secondary responses should be at least a couple of sentences long and should be substantive. This means students should add some important information that enriches the original answer is supported by the course readings.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT SUBMITTING YOUR DISCUSSION POSTS

- Do not be fooled by the due dates and deadlines automatically generated by CANVAS entries in discussion forums and exams. The only due dates and deadlines which matter are those contained in this syllabus. Do not rely on CANVAS to indicate the due date or time for an assignment. For example, CANVAS indicates the discussion boards are open indefinitely. This does not mean you can submit discussion posts at any time for points.
- Posts submitted after the Thursday 11:59PM primary response deadline are pointed as secondary responses and only two responses will be counted for points (max. points 25 points each) regardless of how many posts are submitted. There are no makeups for discussion posts.

C. My Responses

I will grade and give feedback for journal responses as soon as I can after they are submitted. I will grade these usually by the end of that week after they are due, though sometimes it may take two weeks. For discussion posts I will grade and respond to selected discussions in the same way. It is the student's responsibility to read my responses to these posts. Sometimes inaccurate information is presented by students that should be corrected, and the purpose of some of my replies is to alert the class to such information. Generally, grading feedback is most detailed in the first third of the class and then will diminish as students become more familiar with the course. Students may ask relevant questions regarding my responses within the discussion to clarify information however my intent is to make sure the concept has been covered adequately not to engage in a debate on the topic. Students can always email me regarding grading feedback in journals or discussions.

D. Grading Criteria for Discussion Boards: The following rubric outlines how discussion boards will be graded. Note that assessments will focus on the quality of your discussion posts and not the quantity (i.e. I am not looking for "good idea" or "Yeah, I agree."). Quality participation pertains to a student's responding in relevant, meaningful ways, based upon the assigned readings for that week.

E. Grading Criteria for Discussion Posts

Point Value
(100 pts total)

Explanation of issues: In the primary post, the student focuses on explaining issues by answering the discussion questions for the week. The primary post clearly demonstrates that the student has read and comprehended the sources. The issue/problem to be considered critically is stated clearly and described comprehensively, delivering all relevant information necessary for full understanding.

35

Analysis of evidence: In the primary post, the student takes information from sources with enough interpretation/evaluation to develop a comprehensive analysis or synthesis. It is clear the student is considering the evidence presented by authors to support their claims. Viewpoints of experts are questioned thoroughly.

10

Message Coherence: Posts MUST be cited appropriately and written in clear, grammatically correct, and properly spelled English. Stream-of-consciousness posts will lose points.

Response (secondary) Posts: Responses elaborate, contradict, modify, or explain the original message and stay on topic, drawing on the readings and other course materials as appropriate. (Note: Response posts are worth 25 points each. If you only write a primary post, the maximum points you can earn for the discussion is 25 if you submit one secondary post and 50 if you submit two.)

F. Netiquette: All students are expected to follow rules of common courtesy in all messages and threaded discussions. Students may wish to refer to the Student Handbook (located under Student Affairs/Student Conduct on the Texas A&M University-Central Texas website) for further information along these lines. Inappropriate or offensive messages or remarks may result in expulsion from the course.

4. Exams: There will be three exams (100 pts each) that primarily cover readings from the textbook. Films, websites and supplementary readings will be assessed using journal responses or discussion posts. The exam may be multiple choice, short answer, or essay format, but typically limited to 20-25 questions within a 1 hour time limit. Exams are open for a period of 2-3 days and these dates/times are listed in the course schedule. Students can makeup an exam if they have a documented excuse such as illness or injury (see full policy below). FYI WHEN TAKING THE EXAM:

- a. If you press back by accident, your internet or power cuts off, or some other known reason locks you out of your exam and you need your exam reset, please email me immediately so I can resolve the problem BEFORE THE EXAM WINDOW CLOSES.
- b. If you have a technical problem that is unknown or not resolvable by you such as CANVAS gives you errors when you try to submit questions, or you can't get into CANVAS at all because your password suddenly doesn't work, you'll have to call the help desk as that's something I can't fix (see technology requirements towards the end of the syllabus for the number). If this happens you will be required to submit proof of contact with the help desk (case #, email fwd, etc.) in order to qualify for a makeup.
- c. If you decide to take your exam one hour before the exam window closes you are not allowing yourself enough time in case a. or b. happens so plan accordingly.

Course Policies

Modification of the Syllabus

This syllabus may be revised in minor ways at the discretion of the instructor. The student is responsible for noting any changes in the syllabus. More than likely, a change in the syllabus will pertain to events in the Course Schedule. If so, a revised course schedule will be posted.

Makeup work and missed assignments:

Absolutely no makeups will be provided for missed discussion posts and journal responses. There are no makeups for discussions, because we have moved on after the deadlines and because these assessments are usually open for more than 3 days. A student may request a makeup for a missed exam if the student misses the exam window due to an illness or hospital stay for example.

To successfully makeup an exam a student MUST 1. Contact the instructor prior to the missed exam (or within 24 hours of having missed the assignment in the case of emergencies) for purposes of making it up; 2. Schedule with the instructor ASAP to take a makeup no later than 2 weeks after the original excused absence; and 3. Provide documentation (ex: doctor's note, police report) verifying the reason for your excuse. If you don't follow through on all three of these requirements you may be denied the request to makeup the exam. Students who miss an exam with no excused absence will receive a zero on the exam. If you miss an exam due to technical difficulties you must provide proof (email with case number) that you contacted the help desk or other tech support entity as the supporting documentation required above.

Diversity in the Classroom: Respect for cultural and human biological diversity are core concepts within the Social Sciences. In this course, each voice in the classroom has something of value to contribute to class discussion. Please respect the different experiences, beliefs and values expressed by your fellow students and instructor, and refrain from derogatory comments about other individuals, cultures, groups, or viewpoints. In this course we welcome individuals of all ages, backgrounds, citizenships, disabilities, education, ethnicities, family statuses, genders, gender identities, geographical locations, languages, military experience, political views, races, religions, sexual orientations, socioeconomic statuses, and work experiences.

Grade posting: All grades will be posted online; it usually takes about 1 week for me to grade your work. Be assured that I am grading your work as fast as I possibly can.

Late Work is Not Accepted

Discussion posts and journal responses submitted after the listed deadlines are NOT considered late work they are considered missed assignments. Late work posted after the time deadlines listed in the syllabus will receive a zero. Occasionally students attempt to post their primary and secondary posts together, before the Sunday 11:59pm deadline. In this case the secondary posts are on time but the primary post is not and points will be deducted accordingly.
