Important: Pacing of 8-Week Courses
If you have taken an 8-week course at TAMU-CT before, you know that the workload is the same as that of a 16-week course, but is completed twice as fast. For this reason, I recommend that you think of each 8-week class in which you are enrolled as the equivalent of two classes, since you will be completing two weeks’ worth of work (including reading and writing) each week. All students enrolled in this class are expected to manage their time in order to keep up with assignments; although 8-week courses are challenging, deadlines will not be extended for any reasons other than excused emergencies (see Late Submission Policy).

Course Description
Deals with a variety of formal cognitive mechanisms that are relevant to the knowledge and use of natural languages.

Objectives
By the end of this course, you should be able to:

- Describe the main experimental methods and sources of data used in order to explore how the mind stores, processes, and produces language, and explain theories and models of cognitive processes involved in language storage, production, and processing.
- Identify and analyze language usage errors, hypothesize about their significance regarding language storage, processing, and production, and connect your observations to researchers’ analyses of linguistic data sets.
- Locate and evaluate secondary sources related to a psycholinguistic topic of your choosing.
- Produce a well-reasoned linguistic experiment design based on practices found in recent psycholinguistic studies.
Required Textbooks

Additional readings will be made available on through e-reserves or on Canvas.

Course Reading Schedule
Weekly readings (including the “mini-lectures” posted to Canvas) must be completed by Friday of that week, when all assignments related to the week’s reading are also due (by 11:59 PM). However, it is important that you set additional deadlines for yourself based on your own unique schedule and the amount of time you will require to successfully complete the week’s written assignments. I am available, in person or via email, to discuss strategies and scheduling which will help you to be successful in the class. Note that major assignment deadlines have been included in the schedule for your convenience.

These reflections are due at 11:59 PM on the Friday of each week they are assigned. A rubric with more information regarding Short Written Reflections will be made available during Week 1. The Plagiarism Quiz administered during Week 1 will also count toward the Short Written Reflections average, as will the required Introductions discussion post also due at the end of Week 1. This brings the total number of Short Written Reflections scores to ten.

Exams
There will be two exams over the content covered in mini-lectures and assigned readings this semester. The topics covered in each exam are as follows:
Exam 1: IP Ch. 1-6; WM Ch. 2, 4-11, 13-14; Unit 1 & 2 mini-lectures

Exams can contain multiple choice, true/false, short answer, and/or short essay questions. Question types may vary based on exam.

Term Project
A prompt and rubric with details on the term project will be made available during the first week of class. Students will produce (but not implement) an original psycholinguistic experiment design similar to those discussed in assigned readings and related secondary sources. The final draft of all projects will be submitted to VeriCite via Canvas.

Instructor Availability
You are welcome to contact me with questions or comments via email (but please send emails to me via the Canvas messaging system only, unless the site is down). I endeavor to answer all emails within 24 hours of receiving them, not counting weekends and holidays. Appointments are not required during regularly-held office hours (see top of syllabus for details); you can stop by at any time during office hours. Students who are taking this class long-distance (more than an hour drive away from the Killeen campus) and therefore cannot come in to physical office hours should let me know if they need to meet so that we can set up a conversation via Canvas chat or another distance-learning tool. You may request an appointment outside normal office hours in person or by email; however, I do ask that any appointment request be made at least 24 hours in advance of the desired meeting time. Do not assume that the meeting will take place unless I have responded to your request and confirmed the time. Please only request an appointment if it is impossible for you to meet during regularly-scheduled office hours.

Draft Review Policy

Students often ask me whether I’ll look at major assignment drafts and give advice on how to improve them. The answer is yes, with two requirements. First, students who wish for me to review an entire draft must come to office hours or make an appointment to do so and must bring a print copy of the draft with them. I will not review drafts that are emailed to me with no explanation; over email, I will only address specific questions that can be answered in a brief email response. Students who are taking this class long-distance (more than an hour drive away from the Killeen campus) and therefore cannot come in to physical office hours should let me know if they need to meet so that we can set up a conversation via Canvas chat or another distance-learning tool. Second, students who wish for me to review an entire draft must also come to the meeting with two or three specific areas in their assignment that they’d like to discuss. They might mention punctuation, paragraph structure, thesis statement strength, document organization, or other such topics. This does not mean that I will not comment on other areas for improvement; I have just found that beginning by discussing specific aspects of the project identified by the student helps to make the meeting time more effective and focused.

Class Etiquette

Students are to maintain a high level of collegiality and respect when interacting with one another and the instructor, whether online or in person. Disagreements are a normal and often productive aspect of academic discourse, and differences in viewpoint relevant to the class topic may be expressed and explored during discussion portions of the class (for example, on the optional discussion board forums). However, participants engaged in any variety of class-related discussion must remain respectful to all parties involved and focused on a topic relevant to the course.
Late Submission Policy
I do not accept late/make-up work for assignments unless the student has missed the deadline due to a university-excused absence or emergency (for example, an illness or injury experienced by the student or a member of his or her immediate family).

If you miss a deadline due to a university-approved reason, it is your responsibility to initiate a discussion regarding a deadline extension in a timely manner, ideally within 24 hours of missing the deadline. After a new deadline for the assignment is established and the confirmation of the new deadline is emailed to you, you must abide by this deadline or else receive a zero on the assignment. In all situations regarding missed and/or extended deadlines, it is the student’s responsibility to contact the instructor if any issues arise. If I do not hear from you and do not have your submission after a deadline passes, I will assume that you do not intend to turn in the assignment and will put a zero in the gradebook.

Attendance Policy
Because this is a 100% online class, there is no set meeting time. However, students are encouraged to log in to the site daily (excluding weekends and holidays) in order to view materials, check email, and complete assignments in a timely manner.

Program Assessment Statement
To ensure the learning outcomes are met in the English Department, there is a program-wide artifact collection process. To that end, some of the projects you complete for ENGL 3374 this semester may be used for programmatic assessment. Please note that all efforts will be made to keep your identity anonymous; as such, all identifying markers will be removed from your work if used for programmatic assessment. If you have any questions or concerns, please contact Dr. Dunai.

Drop Policy
If you discover that you need to drop this class, you must complete a Drop Request Form [https://www.tamuct.edu/registrar/docs/Drop_Request_Form.pdf].

Professors cannot drop students; this is always the responsibility of the student. The Registrar’s Office will provide a deadline on the Academic Calendar for which the form must be completed, signed and returned. Once you return the signed form to the Registrar’s Office, you must go into Warrior Web and confirm that you are no longer enrolled. If you still show as enrolled, FOLLOW-UP with the Registrar’s Office immediately. You are to attend class until the procedure is complete to avoid penalty for absence. Should you miss the drop deadline or fail to follow the procedure, you will receive an F in the course, which may affect your financial aid and/or VA educational benefits.

Incompletes

Incompletes are only assigned due to unexpected emergency situations which occur after the final drop date (for example, an emergency medical situation experienced by the student). If you simply find yourself overwhelmed by the semester’s demands, you do not qualify for an incomplete. If you experience an emergency which you believe will prevent you from completing the semester’s work before the final drop date, you are expected to drop. If you experience an unexpected emergency situation after the final drop date which you believe will prevent you from completing the semester’s work, please contact me as soon as possible so that we can discuss whether you qualify for an incomplete.

Academic Integrity

Texas A&M University - Central Texas values the integrity of the academic enterprise and strives for the highest standards of academic conduct. A&M-Central Texas expects its students, faculty, and staff to support the adherence to high standards of personal and scholarly conduct to preserve the honor and integrity of the creative community. Academic integrity is defined as a commitment to honesty, trust, fairness, respect, and responsibility. Any deviation by students from this expectation may result in a failing grade for the assignment and potentially a failing grade for the course. Academic misconduct is any act that improperly affects a true and honest evaluation of a student’s academic performance and includes, but is not limited to, cheating on an examination or other academic work, plagiarism and improper citation of sources, using another student’s work, collusion, and the abuse of resource materials. All academic misconduct concerns will be reported to the university’s Office of Student Conduct. Ignorance of the university’s standards and expectations is never an excuse to act with a lack of integrity. When in doubt on collaboration, citation, or any issue, please contact your instructor before taking a course of action.

Plagiarism is the act of presenting another person’s work as if it were your own. This might be done by quoting a source without indicating that you are quoting (if you neglect to include quotation marks and/or a citation); paraphrasing without making significant changes to the source text or without acknowledging the source; and/or intentionally or unintentionally taking part or all of another text and presenting it as your own. Self-plagiarism means submitting part or all of an assignment that you previously submitted to another class for credit; submitting work done for previous courses is not permitted. You are responsible for understanding how to use sources correctly and ethically. You are also responsible for understanding the differences between quoting, paraphrasing, and summarizing, and for understanding how to cite a source which you have quoted, paraphrased, or summarized. Even if a student does not understand what constitutes plagiarism, s/he is not exempt from the consequences for plagiarizing.

If you have questions about using and citing sources, please ask. Any assignments that fail to attribute sources properly, were written in part or in whole by someone other than the student who submitted it, and/or were previously submitted for credit to another course will receive a grade of zero and will be reported to the Office of Student Conduct. All major writing assignments will be checked for plagiarism via a service such as VeriCite.

The University Writing Center
Located in Warrior Hall 416, the University Writing Center (UWC) at Texas A&M University–Central Texas (TAMUCT) is a free workspace open to all TAMUCT students from 10:00 a.m.–4:00 p.m. Monday thru Thursday with online only hours Monday thru Thursday from 6:00-9:00 p.m.

Tutors are prepared to help writers of all levels and abilities at any stage of the writing process. While tutors will not write, edit, or grade papers, they will assist students in developing more effective composing practices. By providing a practice audience for students’ ideas and writing, our tutors highlight the ways in which they read and interpret students’ texts, offering guidance and support throughout the various stages of the writing process. In addition, students may work independently in the UWC by checking out a laptop that runs the Microsoft Office suite and connects to WIFI, or by consulting our resources on writing, including all of the relevant style guides. Whether you need help brainstorming ideas, organizing an essay, proofreading, understanding proper citation practices, or just want a quiet place to work, the UWC is here to help!

Students may arrange a one-on-one session with a trained and experienced writing tutor by visiting the UWC during normal operating hours (both half-hour and hour sessions are available) or by making an appointment via WCOnline. In addition, you can email Dr. Bruce Bowles Jr. at bruce.bowles@tamuct.edu if you have any questions about the UWC and/or need any assistance with scheduling.
