Spring 2021 (1st 8 weeks) Online Course via Canvas
Component of the Fine Arts Minor
Writing Intensive Course

Instructor: Ryan S. Bayless, MFA
Adjunct Professor, Fine Arts and English

Email: ryanbayless@tamuct.edu
(please use our course Canvas email whenever possible)

Office Hours: Regularly available by email through Canvas.

Mode of Instruction and Course Access

This Writing Intensive (WI) designated course meets 100% online with materials made available through the A&M-Central Texas Canvas Learning Management System. To access online components: <https://tamuct.instructure.com>

The Operation of the Online Course and Being an Online Student

Online learning requires students to be very self-disciplined, so be sure you understand and are prepared to comply with all required class assignments and deadlines. Please check the Announcements, Calendar, and Email/Messages on Canvas regularly for assignment details and due dates.

Because this course operates solely online and via the Canvas Learning Management System, students are expected to familiarize themselves with the features and submission systems in the class and be able to navigate the course site. Basic computer skills, ability to access the internet, download documents, play audio and video files, and competency with programs like Microsoft Word and PowerPoint are expected and required to succeed in this virtual setting. (See Section 10 below for information regarding Canvas access, help, and support.)

The Writing Intensive (WI) designation indicates that this course utilizes a variety of written assignments (which make up 100% of a student's final grade) to not only assess the student's comprehension of content, but to also make assessments of writing style, academic tone, essay structure, and clarity of expression. The "WI" designation can also be thought of as "Writing Instructive," as each student will receive regular feedback from the professor on writing elements, structure, and strategies related to each assignment. In an attempt to emphasize ongoing improvement, assignments will often be repeatable in their key objectives and format so that students can use the professor's feedback to improve and enhance their academic writing. (See Sections 5 and 6 below for a discussion of written assignments, general grading expectations, and grading feedback.)

1.0 Course Prerequisite

Senior or junior standing or approval of department head.

2.0 Course Description

F A 4312 (The Blues) explores the origins, evolution, and influence of the blues as a musical and literary art form through its impact on American culture and society with special emphasis on analyzing blues lyrics as poetic expressions in the great American song tradition.

Course work includes weekly online lectures and discussions, reading assignments, extensive listening exercises, and writing projects that involve formal analysis of individual songs as well as the larger themes and influences of the blues in American society.

3.0 Course Objectives and Learning Outcomes

Students who successfully complete this course will be able to:

- Understand and define the evolution of the blues in America from the 18th century to the present era with special emphasis on the mid-20th century
- Understand and define the function and purpose of blues music as it relates to the African-American American experience in the United States
- Understand and define the role of blues songwriters/musicians in American society
- Situate blues songs within the cultural, technological, and economic concerns in which they exist
- Respond to songs, related texts, and critical sources through writing and online discussions
- Write a formal critical analysis of an individual blues song
- Prepare and write a documented essay analyzing the larger themes, functions, and/or purposes of the Blues as a distinctly American art form

This class will at times deal with controversial issues and subject matter. Students should be able to tolerate innovation, viewpoints different from their own, as well as creative and cultural diversity in the arts.

4.0 Required Text

Robert Palmer, Deep Blues: A Musical and Cultural History, from the Mississippi Delta to Chicago's South Side to the World, Penguin Books, 1981 (Reprinted edition).

This course also makes use of a number of other texts, images, songs, and film clips. Links to these sources will be made available on a weekly basis through Canvas.

5.0 Course Requirements

This course has two non-gradable and four gradable categories of assignments. A discussion of each follows:

Non-Gradable Requirements:

Regular Reading and Viewing/Listening Assignments:

The reading in this course serves as a catalyst for everything we do. I have worked to keep the required reading to a minimum with the hope that students will have time to read and comprehend all that is assigned. Those who attempt to complete other assignments without first absorbing and actively engaging with the readings and various links to songs and related materials might be able to approximate the course requirements, but they will not be able to accomplish them.

Weekly Worksheets:

Weekly Worksheets focus your reading and direct the dialogue on the discussion board. The worksheet offers a written version of what we would do in-class were this a face-to-face section. It clarifies or redirects the readings, provides links and clips to illustrate points, introduces prompts for weekly response papers, and provides a context for online discussion.

Gradable Requirements:

Weekly Response Papers (40% of final grade):

Response Papers offer students the opportunity to demonstrate a command of the concepts introduced in the readings and worksheets, as well as provide analysis and critique of the blues songs and texts that accompany them.

The exact task for each assignment varies. In most cases, these assignments ask students to produce a 400-600 word discussion that responds to a specific topic, theme, and/or song. Specific prompts, directions, and due dates are provided in each week's worksheet.

These “papers” will not be submitted directly to the professor, but instead will be posted on the Discussion Board on Canvas, which will allow other students to read and analyze/respond to your ideas. In this sense, each student will continuously provide new content and discussion topics for the course. (These papers will be graded on a ten point scale each week and averaged at the end of the semester.)

Discussion Board Responses (10% of final grade):

The Discussion Board is the place where course content is negotiated, personalized, and connected to broader issues than those outlined in the readings. Students should expect to use this space regularly to initiate, support, and advance critical discussion of the assigned material.

Discussion Board Responses will be graded holistically on the basis of engagement with the ideas, texts, and songs explored in the Response Paper being commented on. Comments need not always be refined, but they do need to initiate meaningful discussion or contribute meaningfully to some discussion already underway. (Posts that simply say, “I (dis)agree,” or that praise or critique the writer will not be deemed “meaningful.”) Responses can be thought of as a way of “thinking out loud,” similar to what would happen in a classroom discussion. That said, please edit them for errors and avoid overly informal writing (like abbreviations or “text/twitter speak”).

Students are expected to reply to at least 2 posted Response Papers per weekly assignment. Consider this the “participation” element of your overall grade. The quality, not the quantity, of comments is what I’m looking for, but feel free to comment and discuss as much as you like.

Short Analysis Paper (20% of final grade):

The Short Analysis Paper assignment (1000-1500 words) asks students to produce a close reading/explication of one or two individual blues songs, explaining and analyzing how its collective components work to produce meaning and express a theme. (Specifics about the assignment requirements and due date will come during week 3 of the course.)

Final Analysis Paper (30% of final grade):

The Final Analysis Paper assignment (1500-2000 words) asks students to produce a thesis-based analysis of how individual songs and songwriters reflected, contributed to, and/or evolved the blues as an American art form. Students will base their claims around the themes and social issues explored throughout the semester, using primary and secondary sources to support their thesis. (Specifics about the assignment requirements and due dates will come during week 5 of the course.)

The Final Analysis Paper should adhere to the conventions of MLA (see the link that follows for help: <http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/747/01/> ). See also the Grading Standards and Expectations below.

6.1 Grading Computation

Final Grades will be calculated using the following percentages:

Weekly Response Papers = 40%
Discussion Board Responses = 10%
Short Analysis Paper = 20%
Final Analysis Paper = 30%

The distribution of final grades is as follows:

Semester grade: A=90-100; B=80-89; C=70-79; D=60-69; and, F=0-59 (Borderline grades will not be automatically rounded up.)

6.2 Grading Standards and Expectations

Along with the students' adherence to the assigned prompt and engagement with artistic concepts and themes, the papers assigned in this course will be assessed and graded by the following standards:

C C indicates a satisfactory performance. A C paper demonstrates positive qualities and avoids serious errors. The positive qualities include the presentation of a central idea that is adequately developed and competently organized. The errors to be avoided include serious flaws in the construction of paragraphs and sentences, in the selection of appropriate words, and in the use of conventional written English. The style of the writing is generally clear.

B The B paper surpasses the C paper by demonstrating a higher level of effectiveness in the organization and development of a central idea. The B paper shows greater complexity of thought and development, while sustaining clarity in expression. It has few or none of the common errors in the use of conventional written English. The style of the writing is generally fluent and polished.

A The A paper is outstanding work. It is clearly a superior performance according to the criteria of clarity of expression and logical development of a central idea. It shows originality of thought and imaginative competence in the development of the material. It engages and holds the reader's attention and invites rereading. The style of the writing is consistently fluent, polished, and distinctive.

D D indicates an unsatisfactory performance. A D paper is flawed by any one or several of the following: weakness in establishing or developing a central idea; serious errors in sentence or paragraph construction; serious errors in grammar, spelling, or the mechanics of written expression.

F indicates an unacceptable performance. An F paper is flawed by one or more of the following: failure to follow the assigned topic; failure to conceive, state, or develop a central idea; serious repeated errors in sentence construction or paragraph development; serious repeated errors in grammar, spelling, or the mechanics of written expression.

In addition to these general guidelines, I will assess your writing on the two analysis papers based on the following criteria:

I will be looking for solid thesis statements that clearly articulate and put forth the central argument of your essay. In order for a thesis statement to be strong, its stated intention must be sustained throughout a paper. I will constantly ask: How does each statement/paragraph/example in your paper relate to the central idea of your thesis?

Beyond cohesion of this central thesis throughout your paper, I will be paying close attention to how well you transition between different paragraphs/claims/examples. This is essentially the structure and flow of your paper. Ideally, the reader should not wonder how any one of your statements relates to another. Consider the appropriate use of topic sentences, supporting points, illustrations and examples as evidence, and sufficient explanation or analysis of the evidence provided as it relates to your thesis.

And remember...

Write to your academic audience. Stay objective in tone and use appropriate, professional language. Also, do not assume that the reader already knows what we go over in class. Be clear and specific with your wording. Proofread carefully for clarity, and use the proper MLA formatting for citing quotations and secondary sources.

6.3 Late-work/Make-up/Extra Credit Policy

Neither late work nor make up work will exist in this class. Assignments that fail to be submitted by the deadline posted on the calendar in Canvas for that assignment will not be accepted (unless you get specific approval from me for unexpected and uncontrollable extenuating circumstances that occur before the due date). Likewise, I do not assign extra credit; therefore, students should focus on providing their best work on assignments throughout the semester.

6.4 Incomplete Policy

Students are responsible for turning in all assignments during the scheduled timeframe for the course. Incompletes should be reserved for unexpected, life altering situations that develop after the drop deadline. Students should drop a course should something happen that prevents them from completing the course ahead of the drop deadline. Failure to do so may result in failing grades on assignments or the course if missing work is not completed and submitted before the last day of the semester. Please let me know immediately if serious health or life issues prevent you from attending class or submitting assignments. (Also see the university "Drop Policy" below.)

7.0 Academic Integrity & Plagiarism

Texas A&M University -Central Texas values the integrity of the academic enterprise and strives for the highest standards of academic conduct. A&M-Central Texas expects its students, faculty, and staff to support the adherence to high standards of personal and scholarly conduct to preserve the honor and integrity of the creative community. Academic integrity is defined as a commitment to honesty, trust, fairness, respect, and responsibility. Any deviation by students from this expectation may result in a failing grade for the assignment and potentially a failing grade for the course.

Academic misconduct is any act that improperly affects a true and honest evaluation of a student's academic performance and includes, but is not limited to, cheating on an examination or other academic work, plagiarism and improper citation of sources, using another student's work, collusion, and the abuse of resource materials. All academic misconduct concerns will be reported to the university's Office of Student Conduct. Ignorance of the university's standards and expectations is never an excuse to act with a lack of integrity. When in doubt on collaboration, citation, or any issue, please contact your instructor before taking a course of action. More information can be found at <http://www.tamuct.edu/departments/studentconduct/academicintegrity.php>

Depending on the severity of a student's act of academic dishonesty, a student found to have committed any of the above will receive nothing less than a zero on the assignment on which the infraction occurred and nothing more than expulsion from the university. A minor infraction includes but is not limited to improper citations or allusions to an outside source (one not directly assigned or approved by me before submission). A major infraction includes but is not limited to the undocumented lifting of ideas, phrases, or any text from a source that finds its inspiration some place other than the student.

8.0 Drop Policy

If you discover that you need to drop this class, you must complete the Drop Request Dynamic Form through Warrior Web.

[<https://dynamicforms.ngwebsolutions.com/casAuthentication.ashx?InstID=eaed95b9-f2be-45f3-a37d-46928168bc10&targetUrl=https%3A%2F%2Fdynamicforms.ngwebsolutions.com%2FSubmit%2FForm%2FStart%2F53b8369e-0502-4f36-be43-f02a4202f612>]

Faculty cannot drop students; this is always the responsibility of the student. The Registrar's Office will provide a deadline on the Academic Calendar for which the form must be completed. Once you submit the completed form to the Registrar's Office, you must go into Warrior Web and confirm that you are no longer enrolled. If you still show as enrolled, FOLLOW-UP with the Registrar's Office immediately. You are to attend class until the procedure is complete to avoid penalty for absence. Should you miss the drop deadline or fail to follow the procedure, you will receive an F in the course, which may affect your financial aid and/or VA educational benefits.

9.0 Course Calendar

This calendar outlines the general themes covered in the course each week. Because we will build upon the topics and themes explored in each section, the material and assignments will be posted to Canvas on a weekly basis.

Each Tuesday morning, a new Worksheet will appear on our home page, which will provide and direct reading assignments, supply additional sources and links, and propose prompts for your weekly Response Paper. This will allow students to concentrate solely on the material as it is presented each week. There is no reason (or ability) to skip ahead.

Assignments and due dates will appear on each Weekly Worksheet and essay prompts as they are assigned, but can also be found on the course "Calendar" link in Canvas.

**This calendar is tentative, but will most likely be followed as written. I will make announcements and distribute revisions as I adapt instruction and materials to your needs.*

11.8 COVID-19 Safety Measures

To promote public safety and protect students, faculty, and staff during the coronavirus pandemic, Texas A&M University-Central Texas has adopted policies and practices to minimize virus transmission. All members of the university community are expected to adhere to these measures to ensure their own safety and the safety of others. Students must observe the following practices while participating in face-to-face courses, course-related activities (office hours, help sessions, transitioning to and between classes, study spaces, academic services, etc.) and co-curricular programs:

- Self-monitoring—Students should follow CDC recommendations for self-monitoring. Students who have a fever or exhibit symptoms of COVID-19 should participate in class remotely and should not participate in face-to-face instruction. Students required to quarantine must participate in courses and course-related activities remotely and must not attend face-to-face course activities. Students should notify their instructors of the quarantine requirement. Students under quarantine are expected to participate in courses and complete graded work unless they have symptoms that are too severe to participate in course activities.

- Face Coverings— Face coverings must be worn inside of buildings and within 50 feet of building entrances on the A&M-Central Texas Campus. This includes lobbies, restrooms, hallways, elevators, classrooms, laboratories, conference rooms, break rooms, non-private office spaces, and other shared spaces. Face coverings are also required in outdoor spaces where physical distancing is not maintained. The university will evaluate exceptions to this requirement on a case by case basis. Students can request an exception through the Office of Access and Inclusion in Student Affairs.

- If a student refuses to wear a face covering, the instructor should ask the student to leave and join the class remotely. If the student does not leave the class, the faculty member should report that student to the Office of Student Conduct. Additionally, the faculty member may choose to teach that day's class remotely for all students.

- Physical Distancing—Physical distancing must be maintained between students, instructors, and others in the course and course-related activities.

- Classroom Ingress/Egress—Students must follow marked pathways for entering and exiting classrooms and other teaching spaces. Leave classrooms promptly after course activities have concluded. Do not congregate in hallways and maintain 6-foot physical distancing when waiting to enter classrooms and other instructional spaces.

- The university will notify students in the event that the COVID-19 situation necessitates changes to the course schedule or modality.
