Office Hours

Available by appointment. Appointments can be made at allen.redmon@tamuct.edu. I will not use Canvas email. Neither will I check my office phone as a first point of contact.

Mode of Instruction and Course Access:

This course is a 100% online course, which means that all required interactions will occur in the A&M-Central Texas Canvas Learning Management System [<https://tamuct.instructure.com/>] and over WebEx. Our class meetings will occur over WebEx at the scheduled times. These meetings are required.

Other course activities will be completed asynchronously in Canvas. These assignments will have firm due dates, so please complete them on time and in full. To be clear, this is not a self-paced class. Students need to meet the stated deadlines to earn credit for assignments. Those who fail to meet a deadline will forfeit credit for that assignment.

Use the Canvas Help link, located at the bottom of the left-hand menu, for issues with Canvas. You can select “Chat with Canvas Support,” submit a support request through “Report a Problem,” or call the Canvas support line: 1-844-757-0953. Alert the technician that you are an A&M-Central Texas student.

For log-in problems, contact Help Desk Central, which is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week: helpdesk@tamu.edu; (254) 519-5466; Web Chat: [<http://hdc.tamu.edu>]

Contact me for issues related to course content and requirements.

Student-Instructor Interaction

Our primary interaction will occur during our synchronous class meetings. You will also have my comments on assignments. Should we need to talk outside of class, the best way to arrange that is by email (allen.redmon@tamuct.edu). You can expect any email sent to my TAMUCT email to receive a response within 24 hours if not much sooner. I will not use email in Canvas, neither will I check my office phone. Email is the best way to contact me. The other type of interaction we will have will occur as I respond to your assignments. I am quick to comment on submitted assignments. My comments are an important part of our class as they will help you see ways to improve and expand your ideas. Please be sure to read every comment.

Course Overview and Description

This course offers a comparative study of great literature in the world in translation. This specific section reads portions of the Judeo-Christian Bible as a literary text. Our goal is to explore intertextual relationships across the various books we will read from that Bible and to set specific elements in that narrative in relationship to other literary texts that adapt those elements.

Course Objectives

This course will provide students the opportunity to consider the ways...

- Choices made in translation impact the perception of a literary text
- Seemingly unrelated stories can relate to one another intertextually
- “A long story” can be shown to revise itself as an instance of ongoing adaption
- “Outside” stories can participate in this process of ongoing adaptation either directly or indirectly
- Effective scholarly arguments depend on effective close readings of a literary text that reveal the strategy by which those readings are being offered

Required Reading and Textbook(s)

I am requesting each student to purchase three books:

- 1) Genesis: Translation and Commentary, by Robert Alter (ISBN: 9780393316704);
- 2) Ancient Israel, by Robert Alter (ISBN: 9780393-348767); and,
- 3) Strong as Death is Love, by Robert Alter (ISBN: 9780393352252)

I will have also added a number of other texts in Canvas. Each document is a required part of the course. Please ensure you have a copy of all required materials as soon as possible.

COURSE ASSIGNMENTS

This course will have four “assignments”:

- 1) Class Discussions: our class discussions are a critical part of the course. Full participation is required. Those who miss more than one class during the semester will forfeit a letter grade.
- 2) Class Responses: some part of each class will be reserved for you to write a written response to the idea you will leave the class thinking or looking to explore. These responses will be submitted on the discussion board. A link will be in the appropriate page on Canvas. These assignments will not be graded in the traditional sense. Those who submit a thoughtful response will earn full credit. Those who miss more than one of these response assignments will forfeit one letter grade.
- 3) Minor presentation: students will provide a written presentation during week four of the course. These presentations will be ungraded in the traditional sense. They are an important part of the course, though, as my comments will prepare you for the major presentation at the end of the course. The specifics for this assignment are posted in the Welcome in Canvas, although I will have more to say about them. Those who miss this assignment will forfeit one letter grade.

- 4) Major Presentation: these assignments will allow students to produce a final essay that performs the objectives of the class. These assignments will be graded. Specifics for this assignment are located in the Welcome in Canvas, although I will have more to say about them.

Posting of Grades and Grading Policies

Students will earn the letter grade they receive on the major presentation unless they have forfeited a letter grade for having missed one of the other three parts of the class. This plan should allow you to take more chances in the early parts of the class without fear of sacrificing points. You can secure all points and be prepared for the final project by thoughtfully completing the earlier assignments.

I will post comments in Canvas to the class responses and minor presentation. Please make sure you see these comments and include them in your thoughts as you look to develop your final project.

If you discover that you need to drop this class, you must complete the Drop Request Dynamic Form through Warrior Web. Faculty cannot drop students. See above for deadlines. Once you submit the completed form to the Registrar's Office, you must go into Warrior Web and confirm that you are no longer enrolled. If you still show as enrolled, FOLLOW-UP with the Registrar's Office immediately. You are to attend class until the procedure is complete to avoid penalty for absence. Should you miss the drop deadline or fail to follow the procedure, you may receive an F in the course, which may affect your financial aid and/or VA educational benefits.

In some circumstances, students will face life-altering circumstances after the deadline. When this happens, students may request an incomplete. Such a request may be granted if the student is in good standing and has only the last remaining assignments to complete before satisfying the requirements of the course. Students who face life-altering circumstances before the published drop dates, or who simply fall behind in their coursework, should consider dropping the course rather than requesting an incomplete.

A&M-Central Texas expects its students, faculty, and staff to support the adherence to high standards of personal and scholarly conduct to preserve the honor and integrity of the creative community. Academic integrity is defined as a commitment to honesty, trust, fairness, respect, and responsibility. Academic misconduct is any act that improperly affects a true and honest evaluation of a student's academic performance and includes, but is not limited to, working with others in an unauthorized manner, cheating on an examination or other academic work, plagiarism and improper citation of sources, using another student's work, collusion, and the abuse of resource materials. ### Important information for Pregnant and/or Parenting Students

Texas A&M University-Central Texas supports students who are pregnant and/or parenting. In accordance with requirements of Title IX and related guidance from US Department of Education's Office of Civil Rights, the Dean of Student Affairs' Office can assist students who are pregnant and/or parenting in seeking accommodations related to pregnancy and/or parenting. Students should seek out assistance as early in the pregnancy as possible. For more information, please visit Student Affairs [https://www.tamuct.edu/student-affairs/index.html]. Students may also contact the institution's Title IX Coordinator. ### A Note about Sexual Violence at A&M-Central Texas

Sexual violence is a serious safety, social justice, and public health issue. The university offers support for anyone struggling with these issues. University faculty are mandated reporters, so if someone discloses that they were sexually assaulted (or a victim of Domestic/Dating Violence or Stalking) while a student at TAMUCT, faculty members are required to inform the Title IX Office. If you want to discuss any of these issues confidentially, you can do so through Student Counseling (254-501-5955) located on the second floor of Warrior Hall (207L).

Sexual violence can occur on our campus because predators often feel emboldened, and victims often feel silenced or shamed. It is incumbent on ALL of us to find ways to actively create environments that tell predators we don't agree with their behaviors and tell survivors we will support them. Your actions matter. Don't be a bystander; be an agent of change. For additional information on campus policy and resources visit the Title IX webpage [https://www.tamuct.edu/compliance/titleix.html].

You can complete the referral online [https://cm.maxient.com/reportingform.php?TAMUCentralTexas&layout_id=2].
