Course Overview and Description.

This course offers an in-depth study of literature written for adolescent, teenage, and young adult audiences. Readings for the course may include classic and/or contemporary selections with thematic-, period-, or genre-based contexts. Course study is concerned with increasing student understanding of unique aspects of adolescent literature and its application in public school curricula, meaning that we will focus on the teaching of young adult literature in the grade-school classroom. This semester, we will adopt a thematic and genre-based approach to the pedagogic study of young adult literature by exploring the representation of disability in young adult literature.

This semester, we will adopt a thematic and genre-based approach to the pedagogic study of young adult literature by exploring the representation of disability in young adult literature.

Expected Learning Outcomes/Course Objectives. Students will examine thematic concepts from the field of disability studies in the genre of young adult literature. Then, they will learn how to adapt those concepts to teach them to a grade-school audience. By the end of the semester, students who have successfully completed the assignments for this course should be able to:

1. Analyze and interpret multiple social and theoretical concepts from the field of disability studies in young adult literary texts.
2. Express their ideas and thematic readings of a text in clear, logical, organized, concise, and persuasive ways, in both written and oral forms.
3. Adapt and convey the material appropriate for a grade-school audience.

Means of Achieving Course Goals. Students will achieve the above course goals by:

1. Watching brief online lectures and participating in online discussions using the Discussions application in Canvas as a form of small group conversation.
2. Submitting writing projects to assess knowledge and mastery of the material including: multiple written reflections in the form of discussion board posts; one short thematic analysis paper in both draft and revision form; one peer review assignment with one reflection on the writing process; and one final pedagogy portfolio that includes a short lecture, a class activity handout or instructions, a paper or exam prompt, and a teaching justification.

The goal of these assessments is to gain skills in close reading and textual analysis; to explore, examine, and engage with multiple themes significant to the field of disability studies and in the genre of young adult literature; to adapt thematic- and genre-based study to a grade-school audience through teaching; and to understand writing and meaning-making of literature as a process by which knowledge is gained through trial-and-error.

Disclaimer: Due to its subject matter, some of the following material will contain mature content—some of which may contain sexual references or innuendos.

Participation Policy and Attendance. Your active, informed participation is crucial to the success of the course and your individual success in this class. Discussion Board posts will serve as your attendance and participation grade for this course. There will be no other form of attendance or participation calculated as part of your overall grade for this course beyond the five Discussion Board posts. As such, carefully prepare for and contribute to "class" via Discussion Board posts by reading in a rigorous, inquisitive manner and responding to your classmates thoughtfully and in a considerate manner. I will penalize students who engage in disrespectful discourse with myself or their peers.

Grade Distribution. Final grades for this course are A, B, C, D, and F. Final grades will be calculated as follows: A=90-100%, B=80-89%, C=70-79%, D=60-69%, F=59%-and below. Your final grade for this course will consist of the following:

Paper Cycle Draft and Revision	30%
Paper Cycle Peer Review and Reflection	20%
Discussion Boards (6 total)	10%
Portfolio: Lecture, Activity, Prompt, and Justification	40%

INSTRUCTOR POLICIES

Posting of Grades. All grades for both major and minor assignments will be posted in the Gradebook on Canvas. I generally grade minor writing assignments within one week of submission date and major writing assignments within two weeks of submission date. Please do not contact me asking about your grade for an assignment until this personal grading deadline has expired.

Discussion Board Posts. Discussion boards function as an important class activity for reflection on the reading. As such, carefully prepare for and contribute to discussion boards as an extension of class this semester. You might even consider completing the assignment during a regularly scheduled hour each week, so that you are in the habit of “attending.” The prompt for each discussion board post is provided in detail in Canvas. Please answer the prompt as fully and completely as possible to earn full credit for the assignment. The content of all posts should be related to the week’s reading and should seek to use correct grammar, sentence structure, and mechanics. Although they are more informal, even minor assignments like discussion board posts are writing assignments and should be treated as such. Since this is an extension of class, you should also engage with your peers in a thoughtful and considerate manner. I will penalize students who engage in disrespectful discourse with their peers or myself. Please allow a 24- to 48 hour-response time after the deadline has passed for the grading of discussion board posts.

Incompletes. Students who are struggling to complete the course due to extenuating circumstances may qualify for a grade of incomplete. However, per departmental policy, a grade of incomplete may only be awarded (1) if the course drop date has already passed and (2) the student can provide documented evidence of extenuating circumstances such as an unplanned and unexpected medical condition or health emergency, etc. Please be advised that students awarded an incomplete must submit all unfinished work prior to the end of the next long semester in order to receive a grade for the course.

Plagiarism and Paper Reuse Policy. Please note that plagiarism is a serious offense and will be punished to the full extent. In my course, you are not allowed, under any circumstances, to reuse papers from prior classes in this course or any other course that you have taken at any institution. Reusing papers does not demonstrate any advance in knowledge or skill, and so would not be helpful for you either in terms of your learning this semester, or for me in terms of assessing this learning. If you feel your situation constitutes a clear or significant exception to this rule, you must discuss this with me prior to the due date. Otherwise, paper reuse will be reported as a collusion offense and will also be punished to the full extent per university policy. Similarly, students who plagiarize on an assignment will receive a zero for the assignment for the first offense and be reported to the Behavioral Intervention Team (BIT) for remedial instruction on avoiding plagiarism. A second plagiarism offense may result in failure of the course.

Turning in Assignments to Canvas. All major writing projects will be submitted to Canvas. I will not accept any assignments via e-mail or paper unless accommodation arrangements were made in conversation with me prior to the assignment deadline. All assignments submitted to Canvas must be saved as a .doc, .docx, or .pdf file to ensure that I am able to open them on my computer (please no Google docs). It is your responsibility to ensure that all of your work is saved in this way and submitted in the correct format. If you submit work in the wrong format, then you may receive a zero for the assignment.

Late Submissions. Students who contact me in advance for an extension and provide legitimate rationale detailing extenuating circumstances may be granted an extension within a reasonable and negotiated deadline. Do not make the assumption that I will grant you an extension—contact me first! For those who do not contact me in advance, and simply fail to submit or submit late: I will accept late submissions for major writing projects only (e.g. NOT homework, classwork, or discussion board posts) with a deduction of 10 points for each day that the submission is late.

Student-Instructor Interaction. The best way to contact me is via email, as I check it regularly both on- and off-campus. Do allow for a 24- to 48-hour turn-around time for emails as I do not sit at my email all day, rather I check it during specific times once or twice per day. If your situation is an emergency, I advise contacting the Chair of the Humanities Department, Dr. Allen Redmon: allen.redmon@tamuct.edu or (254) 519-5750.

Communication Etiquette. Students should use a professional and respectful tone with fellow learners and myself (the instructor) in all forms of communication including, but not limited to, Discussion Board posts and responses, and emails. I reserve the right to censor (via deletion and warning to the student) any post or response that is not appropriate for the assignment or on task. Additionally, I expect the use of Standard English rather than popular online abbreviations and regional colloquialisms in all forms of written communication. In emails, please use a salutation (i.e. "Dear Dr. Tavera" or "Hi Dr. Tavera") at the opening of your email and a signature (i.e. "Best" or "Sincerely") at the close of your email.

Academic Integrity. Texas A&M University-Central Texas values the integrity of the academic enterprise and strives for the highest standards of academic conduct. A&M-Central Texas expects its students, faculty, and staff to support the adherence to high standards of personal and scholarly conduct to preserve the honor and integrity of the creative community. Academic integrity is defined as a commitment to honesty, trust, fairness, respect, and responsibility. Any deviation by students from this expectation may result in a failing grade for the assignment and potentially a failing grade for the course. Academic misconduct is any act that improperly affects a true and honest evaluation of a student's academic performance and includes, but is not limited to, cheating on an examination or other academic work, plagiarism and improper citation of sources, using another student's work, collusion, and the abuse of resource materials. All academic misconduct concerns will be reported to the university's Office of Student Conduct. Ignorance of the university's standards and expectations is never an excuse to act with a lack of integrity. When in doubt on collaboration, citation, or any issue, please contact your instructor before taking a course of action.

For more information regarding the Student Conduct process, [https://www.tamuct.edu/student-affairs/student-conduct.html]. A Note about Sexual Violence at A&M-Central Texas. Sexual violence is a serious safety, social justice, and public health issue. The university offers support for anyone struggling with these issues. University faculty are mandated reporters, so if someone discloses that they were sexually assaulted (or a victim of Domestic/Dating Violence or Stalking) while a student at TAMUCT, faculty members are required to inform the Title IX Office. If you want to discuss any of these issues confidentially, you can do so through Student Counseling (254-501-5955) located on the second floor of Warrior Hall (207L).

Sexual violence can occur on our campus because predators often feel emboldened, and victims often feel silenced or shamed. It is incumbent on ALL of us to find ways to actively create environments that tell predators we don't agree with their behaviors and tell survivors we will support them. Your actions matter. Don't be a bystander; be an agent of change. For additional information on campus policy and resources visit the Title IX webpage [https://www.tamuct.edu/compliance/titleix.html].

COVID-19 SAFETY MEASURES. To promote public safety and protect students, faculty, and staff during the coronavirus pandemic, Texas A&M University-Central Texas has adopted policies and practices to minimize virus transmission. Although the facemask mandate has been rescinded as of May 18, 2021, and facemasks are no longer required on campus, university administration recommends that students continue to observe CDC public health recommendations including: self-monitoring, physical distancing, and classroom ingress/egress. For definitions of these terms, see below:

- Self-monitoring—Students should follow CDC recommendations for self-monitoring. Students who have a fever or exhibit symptoms of COVID-19 should participate in class remotely and should not participate in face-to-face instruction. Students required to quarantine must participate in courses and course-related activities remotely and must not attend face-to-face course activities. Students should notify their instructors of the quarantine requirement. Students under quarantine are expected to participate in courses and complete graded work unless they have symptoms that are too severe to participate in course activities.
- Physical Distancing—Physical distancing must be maintained between students, instructors, and others in the course and course-related activities.
- Classroom Ingress/Egress—Students must follow marked pathways for entering and exiting classrooms and other teaching spaces. Leave classrooms promptly after course activities have concluded. Do not congregate in hallways and maintain 6-foot physical distancing when waiting to enter classrooms and other instructional spaces.

- The university will notify students in the event that the COVID-19 situation necessitates changes to the course schedule or modality.

Campus Carry. Effective August 1, 2016, the Campus Carry law (Senate Bill 11) allows those licensed individuals to carry a concealed handgun in buildings on public university campuses, except in locations the University establishes as prohibited. Under the new law, openly carrying handguns is not allowed on college campuses. For more information, visit <https://www.tamuct.edu/police/campus-carry.html>. Per university policy, concealed handguns should not be visible during class and are prohibited in the A&M-Central Texas Counseling Center, including the co-located Community Counseling and Family Therapy Center.
