Course Textbook

Shafer-Landau, R. \(2018\) The Fundamentals of Ethics, 5th edition. Oxford University Press.

Major Course Requirements

All written assignments must be your own work. You may not copy from any sources, including the articles you read, without properly citing. Failing to cite is plagiarism.

Plagiarism is a form of theft. Plagiarism occurs when someone presents another person's thoughts or work as their own. Someone presents another person's thoughts as their own when they do not give credit to the source of the information by including a citation at the end of the statement sentence.

Overall, writing should be concise, without losing important information, and submission should be well organized. Please review the Writing for the Social Sciences page for guidance and contact the University Writing Center to review your writing.

4 Written Assignments (60%) Written assignments assess your ability to apply the material learned to real world research. Students read articles and answer questions about the research. Students choose 4 articles from the 8 provided to write essays on. Essays should be 2-3 pages, 12-point font, double spaced. Each essay must use American Psychological Association format and include citation(s) for the sources read. To earn a passing score essays must provide:

- An explanation of the philosophy featured in the article.
- An explanation of how the philosophy is tied to the criminal justice issue featured in the article.

- An explanation of what the authors examined.
- An explanation of the results of their research and how they believe it impacts the criminal justice issue.
- An explanation of how this supports or rejects the popular thoughts of the philosophy and the criminal justice issue, and why.

Grading Criteria Rubric and Conversion

Accessing Grades Students can view their grades in the Canvas Gradebook by going to "Grades" link on Canvas. Most grades are available immediately. Grades for written assignments are returned within 7-10 days of the due date.

Grading Rubric A C grade is average, to earn an overall grade higher than a C you must consistently produce high quality and outstanding work. See individual assignments for more detailed rubrics.

- A, 90-100: Outstanding work and mastery of material.
- B, 80-89: High quality work and good understanding of the material.
- C, 70-79: Satisfactory work and basic understanding of the material.
- D, 60-69: Missing work and insufficient understanding of the material.
- F, <59: Missing work and no understanding of the material.

Earning a 0 Plagiarism is a deliberate attempt to deceive the grader into believing that you produced the work. In this class and others what you write is used to assess how well you learned the material. If the material presented is someone else's, the assessment is not of you. Consequently, students who plagiarize receive a 0.

Attendance, Performance, and Late Policy

Attendance A student is considered attending the course if they are completing assignments regularly. If students do not complete assignments regularly, they may be marked as "not attending" which can affect enrollment status and financial aid. Students are responsible for keeping up with the course outline.

Performance Canvas records student's interactions with the platform which allows professors to see how often students access the course and view pages; how much time is spent on exams, exam questions, and when answers are changed; and whether videos are watched, for how long, and if they were skipped. I use this information for grade disputes. If you want to learn more about the information faculty can see, visit Student Interactions Quiz Log

Late Policy Assignments are posted at the beginning of the semester to allow students to work around their schedules Media quizzes and exams can be completed until the end of the semester without penalty. Written assignments will be accepted up to 3 days late (no exceptions) before receiving a 0.

A Note about Sexual Violence at A&M-Central Texas

Sexual violence is a serious safety, social justice, and public health issue. The university offers support for anyone struggling with these issues. University faculty are mandated reporters, so if someone discloses that they were sexually assaulted (or a victim of Domestic/Dating Violence or Stalking) while a student at TAMUCT, faculty members are required to inform the Title IX Office. If you want to discuss any of these issues confidentially, you can do so through Student Wellness and Counseling (254-501-5955) located on the second floor of Warrior Hall (207L).

Sexual violence can occur on our campus because predators often feel emboldened, and victims often feel silenced or shamed. It is incumbent on ALL of us to find ways to actively create environments that tell predators we don't agree with their behaviors and tell survivors we will support them. Your actions matter. Don't be a bystander; be an agent of change. For additional information on campus policy and resources visit the Title IX webpage [https://www.tamuct.edu/compliance/titleix.html].

Behavioral Intervention

Texas A&M University-Central Texas cares about the safety, health, and well-being of its students, faculty, staff, and community. If you are aware of individuals for whom you have a concern, please make a referral to the Behavioral Intervention Team. Referring your concern shows you care. You can complete the referral online

[https://cm.maxient.com/reportingform.php?TAMUCentralTexas&layout_id=2].

Anonymous referrals are accepted. Please see the Behavioral Intervention Team website for more information [https://www.tamuct.edu/bit]. If a person's behavior poses an imminent threat to you or another, contact 911 or A&M-Central Texas University Police at 254-501-5805.
