Course Information

Course Description

Readings and discussion of selected topics in the history of regions and countries outside of Europe and the United States. May be repeated for credit when topics vary. This specific section of HIST 5360 examines revolutionary movements both in Europe and outside of Europe from the thirteenth century through the twentieth century. Often European revolutionary movements greatly influenced non-European countries and non-European revolutionary leaders; thus, readings on Europe are included in this course.

Overall Course Objective

After successfully completing the course, students will be able to judge the reasons for the immediate and long-term successes and failures of specific revolutionary movements.

Specific Course Objectives (Student Learning Outcomes)

After successfully completing the course, students will be able to

1. Examine the varied meanings of the term revolution

2. Analyze the reasons for the development of major revolutions

3. Investigate the effect and the appeal of Western revolutionary ideas in the non-Western World and investigate the effect and the appeal of non-Western revolutionary ideas within the Western World.

4. Construct an original work that investigates scholars’ varying approaches to a specific topic

Required Books in the Order of Assignments

Course Requirements

Syllabus Acknowledgement Statement

Students need to submit a Syllabus Acknowledgment Statement indicating that they have read and understand the information in the syllabus. Students should upload the statement to Canvas. Students’ acknowledgement of this statement is worth five (5) points. If students have any questions about the statement, then they should contact the instructor as soon as possible. Check the course schedule for the due date.

Book Reviews

During the semester, students will read books on a regular basis, and for each book, all students will compose a book review. These reviews should be two to three (2-3) typed pages, double spaced, with one (1) inch margins, and the students should use twelve (12) point Times New Roman Font. Students should not consult any outside sources for these reviews, but instead only base their reviews on that week’s assigned reading. All reviews’ due dates are listed in the course schedule in the syllabus, and each review must be submitted via Canvas.

For each review, at the top of the first page, students should include the citation of the book as required in a professional book review, and students will sign their name at the end of their book reviews. Also, should students quote material, then following the quoted material, students should note the page number(s) of the quoted material in parentheses, such as (15). This formatting mirrors that of a professional book review, and an example of a professional book review is posted on Canvas.

In these reviews, no lengthy quotations will be accepted. Students may include only two (2) quotations per review, and each quotation should be ten (10) words or less. The use of more than two (2) quotations or quotations of more than ten (10) words will reduce significantly students’ grades by five (5) points. The emphasis is that students paraphrase the material. When students paraphrase the material, they have to engage critically with the material, which leads to a more thorough understanding of the text. Also, students should keep their papers to the two to three (2-3) page limit. Papers that exceed the length limit will reduce students’ grades by five (5) points. One of the objectives in graduate school is to be very specific and precise when expressing written ideas. Since this may be the first time that students have taken a graduate history course, students should feel free to ask the instructor questions about their assignments. While the instructor will not read drafts of the book reviews, the instructor will answer specific questions.

Criteria for Book Reviews=15 points each

Introduce clearly the author’s or authors’ thesis as well as purpose=3 points

Evaluate the author’s or authors’ use of supporting examples, which is not a summary of each chapter=7 points

Overall impression of the book which may include evaluating: the strength of the thesis and the evidence presented; the thorough use of primary sources and archival materials; and the effective use of maps and/or images =2 points

Written clearly with correct grammar and punctuation and be free generally of typographical errors and misspellings=3 points

Leading Discussion Individually

Throughout the semester, students will take turns leading discussion. Students must lead discussion twice, and students will sign up for leading discussion on the first night of class. On the night that the student leads discussion, the student needs to come prepared with a list of twenty to twenty-five (20-25) questions about the reading. Questions should draw on the author’s or authors’ thesis and major themes of the reading as well as draw connections between the current reading and books previously read in the course. The student leading discussion will need to submit a copy of these discussion questions on Canvas under the heading Leading Discussion 1 or Leading Discussion 2. Questions for discussion will not be distributed to the class early. All students who are not leading discussion are expected to contribute to discussion. All students should bring a copy of that week’s reading material to class and are free to refer to the text when answering questions.
Criteria for Leading Discussion=10 points

Submission of twenty to twenty-five (20-25) questions=4 points

Ask original twenty to twenty-five (20-25) questions; ask follow-up questions; and respond to classmates’ and/or the instructor’s comments=5 points

Questions written clearly with correct grammar and punctuation and free generally of typographical errors and misspellings=1 point

Class Discussions

Each week, students will engage in class discussions in which they appraise each week’s reading. For each discussion, students should have read thoroughly each week’s book. It may be helpful for students to take notes as they read. Students should be sure to read the introduction and conclusion since many times the author(s) will outline the thesis in these sections. Students should keep in mind that in each chapter, the author(s) is attempting to advance the thesis. Students who carefully read the material and take notes should be prepared for discussion and should be able to write an insightful review. Students’ responses to questions should be based on the reading(s) assigned in class and may include relevant outside factual information that relates specifically to the discussion.

During discussions, students should focus their attention on the individual asking questions and contributing to the discussion. There should not be individual conversations being held during discussion. These conversations are disruptive. Also, if students have answered several questions and have contributed frequently during the class period, then students should pause and allow their classmates to answer questions and to contribute to discussion. These actions better ensure that everyone participates in the discussion. There is NO recording of class discussions. When a student is not leading discussion, each week’s discussion is worth five (5) points.
Online Discussion on Revolutionary Movements: November 20 through November 29

From November 20 through November 39, students will participate in an online discussion post regarding leaders’ and/or individuals’ current efforts to create a revolutionary movement. Students are free to select the topic of their choice, and the topic should be on a contemporary issue or event from 2022-2023. Students will locate two (2) articles on the topic of their choice, and these articles do not need to be scholarly articles and may be from online news sources or other similar publications. If possible, these two (2) articles should present differing viewpoints on the revolutionary movement, so that students are aware of competing interpretations of the revolutionary group’s objectives.

On the discussion board, provide the name of each article and a link to each article. Below the article title and link, students should note the revolutionary group’s objectives as well as the revolutionary groups’ similarities and differences with prior revolutionary groups. This discussion post should be at least four to five (4-5) sentences. Students and the instructor will then read all the articles posted. Students will need to ask two (2) questions to two (2) different classmates and respond to at least two (2) questions asked by classmates or the instructor. Responses should be at least four to five (4-5) sentences. The instructor will participate in this assignment as well.

Criteria for Online Discussion=12 points

Post two (2) articles’ links and titles; Examine the revolutionary groups’ objectives; Examine the revolutionary group’s similarities and differences with prior revolutionary movements =6 points

Ask two (2) questions to two (2) classmates and respond to two (2) classmates’ or the instructor’s questions=4 points

All posts written clearly with correct grammar and punctuation and free generally of typographical errors and misspellings=2
Online Discussion for November 29 through December 6
During the week of November 29 through December 6, students will participate in an online discussion of that week’s book. Each student should contribute four (4) questions throughout the week and respond to at least four (4) questions asked by their classmates and/or the instructor. The instructor also will post four (4) questions and will respond to at least four (4) questions or comments posted by students. Since this is an online discussion post, students’ questions and answers should be clear and free of typographical errors. Each response to a question should be at least four (4) sentences in length, so that the answer addresses the question with evidence from the reading. Questions and responses should follow the guidelines outlined in the sections Leading a Discussion Individually and Class Discussions.

Criteria for Online Discussion=10 points
Ask four (4) questions throughout the week that are based on the reading=4 points
Respond to at least four (4) questions with detailed and fact-based answers=4 points
Questions and Responses written clearly with correct grammar and punctuation and free generally of typographical errors and misspellings=2 points

Theme Paper
The final component of students’ grades will be an original paper that investigates scholars’ varying approaches to a specific theme. For this paper, students should use seven to eight (7-8) books, and students should use at least four (4) books read in the course. Students may use sources not read in class, but they still must use at least four (4) books read in the course. This theme paper will be six to seven (6-7) typed pages, with one (1) inch margins, double spaced, and typed in twelve (12) point Times New Roman Font. Students should not copy and paste large sections, a paragraph or more, from their book reviews to complete this assignment; this action will result in a zero (0) for their theme paper. In order to prepare for this paper, as students read the books, they may want to take notes, and these notes will help with completing the final paper. Also, the class discussions will address the major themes of the class. This material will further aid students with their paper. Students are welcome to take notes during class meetings, but there is NO recording of class discussions.

As with the weekly reviews, it is important that students follow the paper guidelines closely. Students may only use two (2) quotations, and each quotation must be ten (10) words or less. The use of more than two (2) quotations or quotations of more than ten (10) words will reduce students’ grades by seven (7) points. The emphasis is that students paraphrase the material. When students paraphrase the material, they have to engage critically with the material, which leads to a more thorough understanding of the text. Also, students should keep their papers to the six to seven (6-7) page limit. Papers that exceed the length limit will reduce students’ grades by five (5) points. One of the objectives in graduate school is to be very specific and precise when expressing written ideas. Students should proofread their papers before the due date, and the papers should be free generally of typographical errors and misspellings. For the paper, students should have a title page, which does not count toward the required number of pages. Also, students will need to cite all material taken from any source. Endnotes are needed for material that is both paraphrased and quoted. Endnotes come on a separate sheet of paper at the end of the theme paper. The endnotes page does not count toward the required number of pages. Links are posted on Canvas which provide examples of a correct title page and correct citations for books according to the Chicago Manual of Style, 17th edition.

Since this may be the first time that students have taken a graduate history course, students have the entire semester to ask the instructor questions about this assignment. While the instructor will not read drafts of the paper, the instructor will answer specific questions. The theme paper is due on Wednesday, December 13 BEFORE 6:00pm.
Students may submit the paper early. Students must turn in the paper on Canvas. Only in cases of documented extreme hardship will an extension be granted for the final paper.

Criteria for Theme Paper=100 points

Well-developed thesis=20 points

Incorporate material, which supports the thesis, from seven to eight (7-8) books, four (4) of which were read in class=55 points

Written clearly with correct grammar and punctuation and free generally of typographical errors and misspellings=15 points

Cite information properly using a Chicago Style title page and endnotes=10 points

Instructor and Course Policies

Absences and Make-Up Work

Absences in graduate school are generally not acceptable. The instructor does understand that in some circumstances, such as a major illness, there may be missed classes. Should students miss class, then they need to contact the instructor as soon as possible. Unexcused absences will affect negatively students’ grades. Only excused absences are allowed. Should students miss a class, make-up assignments will be allowed only for excused absences. Students, when they return, must give the instructor written documentation, such as a note from their doctor, which covers the days that they missed. ONLY with documentation will students be granted an excused absence and be able to make up work. Students who submit work early but then miss class on the work’s due date also will need to provide some form of documentation for the days missed. Otherwise, the work will not be accepted. Students cannot make up work or receive credit for work with unexcused absences.

ALL make-up work must be turned in no later than one (1) week after students return to class. No work will be accepted after the one (1) week period. Near the end of the semester, make-up work may be due in a shorter amount of time. No make-up work will be accepted after 6:00p.m. on December 13.

Make-Up Work When Not Leading Discussion

In this course, make-up work will take the form of a lengthier book review of five to seven (5-7) pages. These lengthier reviews will count as both the review grade and the discussion grade. All paper guidelines as outlined in the previous section titled Book Reviews apply to make-up reviews. Students should refer to these guidelines and requirements, or points will be lost.
Criteria for Make-up Book Review = 20 points

Introduce clearly the author’s or authors’ thesis as well as purpose = 4 points

Evaluate the author’s or authors’ use of supporting examples, which is not a summary of each chapter = 10 points

Overall impression of the book which may include evaluating: the strength of the thesis and the evidence presented; the thorough use of primary sources and archival materials; and the effective use of maps and/or images = 3 points

Written clearly with correct grammar and punctuation and be free generally of typographical errors and misspellings = 3 points

Make-Up Work for Leading Discussion as an Individual and for the Online Discussion from November 29 through December 6

For a missed week when the student is leading discussion individually or for an entire week of missed online discussion, the student will need to submit a lengthier review. Make-up work will take the form of a lengthier review of ten to eleven (10-11) pages. This review will count for both the leading discussion grade and the review grade. All paper guidelines as outlined in the previous section titled Book Reviews apply to make-up reviews. Students should refer to these guidelines and requirements, or points will be lost.

Criteria for Make-up Book Review = 25 points

Introduce clearly the author’s or authors’ thesis as well as purpose = 6 points

Evaluate the author’s or authors’ use of supporting examples, which is not a summary of each chapter = 12 points

Make-Up Work for Online Discussion-Revolutionary Movements
November 20 through November 29

Should students miss the entire week when they are contributing to the online discussion regarding contemporary revolutionary movements, then students will need to submit a four to five (4-5) page report. This report will analyze the two (2) articles selected by the students and will note the main objectives of the revolutionary movement. Moreover, this report would then analyze the influence of or similarities/differences to prior revolutionary movements.

Criteria for Make-up Online Discussion=12 points each

Introduce clearly the revolutionary movement’s objectives=5 points

Evaluate the movement’s similarities and differences to prior revolutionary movements=5 points

Written clearly with correct grammar and punctuation and be free generally of typographical errors and misspellings=2 points

Incompletes

A grade of an Incomplete is granted rarely. Incompletes will be granted only after the last day to drop a course and will be granted only to students who have experienced a major catastrophic event. Students must provide some form of written documentation that provides evidence of the catastrophic event.

Withdrawal, Drop Dates, Assignment Due Dates, and Important University Dates

Students who feel that they need to drop the class must go to the Registrar’s Office and complete the withdrawal forms. It is the students’ responsibility to withdraw from a class; to be aware of all add and drop dates for classes; and to be aware of all guidelines in the syllabus as well as due dates for class assignments. Students should refer to the University Calendar for important dates, such as graduation deadlines. The calendar can be viewed at

https://www.tamuct.edu/
Plagiarism

Plagiarism is copying or using the words or the ideas of another individual(s) and submitting that work as one’s original work. Material taken from any source, including books, articles, journals, the Internet, or any other sources, must be paraphrased (put in your own words) and cited correctly (refer to individual assignment guidelines) and if quoted, set off in quotation marks, and cited correctly. Plagiarism will be emphasized on the first day of class. Should students have any questions about paraphrasing, using quotations, citing material, or documenting sources, then students should ask questions via email or make an appointment to discuss concerns with the instructor.

Work that is deemed plagiarized will result in the grade of a zero (0) for the assignment. SimCheck in Canvas will check assignments for plagiarism. Students who receive a mark of fifty percent (50%) or more for plagiarism will earn a zero (0) for the assignment. Also, students will earn a failing grade (fifty percent (50% F) or lower) for an assignment when there is evidence that the plagiarism is from a purchased paper or when there is evidence of blatantly copying sources or material without paraphrasing. When there is evidence of plagiarism, students’ work will be submitted to the Office of Student Conduct.

Cheating

Cheating is assisting other students with completing class assignments, and cheating includes the use of any unauthorized materials to complete any assignments. Students are not allowed to use artificial intelligence (AI) or any other automated writing tools when completing assignments for this course. The use of AI or other automated writing tools is considered cheating. The penalty for cheating will be a zero (0) for the assignment. When there is evidence of cheating, students’ work will be submitted to the Office of Student Conduct for review.

Texas A&M University-Central Texas is committed to creating a safe and open learning environment for all students. If you or another student has experienced any form of gender discrimination or sexual misconduct, including sexual harassment, sexual assault, dating/domestic violence, and/or sex-based stalking, help and support are available. Our university strongly encourages all members of our campus community to report incidents and seek support for gender discrimination and sexual misconduct through the Title IX Office. You

Please be aware that that under Title IX, Texas Senate Bill 212, and System Regulation 08.01.01, [https://policies.tamus.edu/08-01-01.pdf] all university employees are mandated reporters and are required to disclose information about suspected or alleged violations as listed above and

If the Title IX Office receives information about an incident, they will reach out to offer information about resources, rights, and procedural options as a member of the campus community. OTHER POLICY STATEMENTS
A Note about Sexual Violence at A&M-Central Texas
Sexual violence is a serious safety, social justice, and public health issue. The university offers support for anyone struggling with these issues. University faculty are mandated reporters, so if someone discloses that they were sexually assaulted (or a victim of Domestic/Dating Violence or Stalking) while a student at TAMUCT, faculty members are required to inform the Title IX Office. If you want to discuss any of these issues confidentially, you can do so through Student Wellness and Counseling (254-501-5955) located on the second floor of Warrior Hall (207L). Sexual violence can occur on our campus because predators often feel emboldened, and victims often feel silenced or shamed. It is incumbent on ALL of us to find ways to actively create environments that tell predators we don’t agree with their behaviors and tell survivors we will support them. Your actions matter. Don’t be a bystander; be an agent of change. For additional information on campus policy and resources visit the Title IX webpage [https://www.tamuct.edu/compliance/titleix.html].
