Course Overview and Description. This course offers an in-depth study of literature written for adolescent, teenage, and young adult audiences. Readings for the course may include classic and/or contemporary selections with thematic-, period-, or genre-based contexts. Course study is concerned with increasing student understanding of unique aspects of adolescent literature and its interpretation through various historical, theoretical, or genre-based lenses. This semester, we will adopt a thematic and genre-based approach to the study of young adult literature by exploring the representation of girlhood in young adult literature.
