EXPERIENCE

August 1, 2018 – present

Professor of Aviation Science, Department of Aviation Science, California Baptist University, Riverside, CA. Serve as program lead for undergraduate BS degree in Aviation Management and graduate MBA in Aviation Management. Teach, conduct research, and serve department, university, and profession. 40+ hrs/week.

This course has challenged me and pushed me to go the extra step and not stick with the bare minimum. I am thankful for this professor and course for helping me realize the minimum won't do and that extra step can go miles.

AVN 300 – Fall 2018

Dr. Prather is a fantastic professor for aviation management related courses. His first-hand knowledge fostered increased learning. He also gives the opportunity to learn from real world and industry experts via class assignments. I also like how he integrates private industry certification lessons for business aviation as part of the course. Dr. P is a positive role model for business aviation and I am thankful for the resources and time he has invested in me.
